

Please do not gut the provisions of the No-Call List consumer protections. I've had a marked decrease in telemarketer interruptions of family events since the list was created. Re-authorizing such interruptions will cause many (such as myself) to finally abandon their phone lines (cell and land lines) and actually hurt the economic recovery. Thanks for considering my comments.